The white door walkthrough sara

Edit comments Share This article is about the game. For the location, see the White Door (location). The White Door is the 14th game from Rusty Lake and the first spin-off game of the series, released on January 9, 2020. It was co-published by the independent game publisher Second Maze, which is a co-founder of Rusty Lake's owners. The game took place in a psychiatric hospital in 1972, where Robert Hill was agitated suffering from severe memory loss. The gameplay differs from other Rusty Lake games, using a split screen view from a third party and a missing inventory system. There is a site that is a companion of the game. This is useful for completing the second secret Sarah level. Characters[edit]

The soundtrack for this game contains 12 special composers by composer Victor Butzelaar. It can be purchased through bandcamp.com. The creative work on the 4th day is from Giacomo Puccini's Bohemian. This is the aria Si, mi chiamo Mimì, in which Mimì tells about herself. Interestingly, aria includes the line (when translated into English) Alone/in my small white room[!]; although this may be a coincidence. Trivia[edit]
